Misery, Hardships In German debacle Beyond Description

The following graphic story of the German debacle by a Canadian newspaperman who was captured in July, 1942, while serving as a RCAF bomber pilot, was brought out of Luckenwalde prison camp near Berlin by British Union Press correspondent Edward W. Horton, who also was liberated from the camp during the siege of the Nazi capital by the Russian Army—EDITOR.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
PARIS, May 10.—(BUP)—For Canadian prisoners of war in camps at Sagan, in Silesia, the visible break-up of Germany came the night of January 28 when the Germans ordered us to evacuate the camp and march west because of the victorious advances of Stalin's Red army.

Pay Riot Loss

HALIFAX, May 10.—(CPI)—More than 20 persons were arrested during the night as a result of Tuesday's rioting in downtown Halifax, police said today. All were picked up by police in the north end and taken down sections of the city. Eight women were among those arrested.

HALIFAX, May 10.—(CPI)—In a newspaper editorial yesterday the Halifax Star declared that "the rioting, looting and violence which raged unprovoked without obvious effort or restraint by the responsible authorities whose personnel were the prime instigators of the disorders, will be remembered by the people of this port city as one of the most disgraceful and deplorable episodes witnessed in this or any other Canadian community."

Noted two factors which "stand out with unmistakable clarity," the editorial stated. First, "the responsible heads of the armed services and in particular the commander-in-chief of the Navy Fleet (Admiral L. W. Murray) failed utterly in taking the steps which were necessary to prevent the rioting outbreaks indicated ought to have been taken. And secondly, the police in taking prompt and adequate measures to curb the rioting which was mainly by naval personnel."

In "further indignation at what has been done in this city," the editorial continued.

Polish Question
Still Deadlocked

LONDON, May 10.—(BUP)—Prime Minister Churchill implied today that the cabinet would not be the Big Three had failed to make any progress toward a solution of the Polish question.

Churchill was asked in the House when he planned to make a statement on foreign affairs. He replied that the difficulties about the case of the Polish question were the end of the war in Europe "are in no way relieved."

Churchill's scheduled speech in Commons a few weeks ago, which he cancelled, was attributed to the possibility that the cabinet might interfere with the possibility. He used the same reason when he cancelled a similar statement in Commons a few days later.

Churchill said he expected Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden back from San Francisco next week.

Churchill said he had the advantage of having been in the war, but he no doubt being fully informed of the views of the British people. He said he had the advantage of discussions with Mr. Churchill, who had been in the war, and he had the advantage of the Foreign Minister, Mr. Molotov.

Nazi Attempt
At Espionage
Was Foiled

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CPI)—For more than six years, since 1939 when world war broke out, Canadian officials have kept a close watch on the activities of the German espionage network.

It was at Bala, Ont., not long before war started and not long after the arrival of American troops in Europe, that the German espionage network was foiled.

Then one day the Germans made a bid to establish a radio station in Mexico. It was reported that the station was to be built in the state of Vera Cruz, and that the Germans were to be supplied with the necessary equipment.

Inside the package was a whole lot of trouble. The Germans were to be supplied with the necessary equipment, and the package was to be sent to Mexico.

At Wednesday's meeting of the committee the commissioners reported that the services of both warlike bodies would be available to the public.

and stables. The crowding was appalling. Frequently 100 men of our group were herded together, cold, wet and hungry in one small barn. The German officers were unable to find food. Those of us who had cigarettes and wrist watches could keep alive by bartering with peasants along the roads.

I sold a fifty-dollar watch for bread and a shirt and a piece of German sausage.

German soldiers who guarded us were roughly of two types. Some were decent, human souls, mostly men who had been in action and knew what war really was, who behaved like men and did the little they could to help us. There were also mean, vicious brutes who in humiliation and defeat did their best to increase our discomfort.

THREATENED WOMEN

I saw such types threaten German housewives who sought to give us water as we marched through village streets. I never will forget the sight of a German soldier who struck a girl of ten with his hands of a small German girl by the roadside, then the tears in the girl's eyes and her look of hurt and wonderment.

On all sides we saw evidence of the final defeat of Hitler's Germany. At one stopping place we shared bullets with survivors of the famous Hermann Goering SS Tank Division. These were hardened young frontline fighters who after years of victorious campaigning had at last been sent to the front on the battlefield of Russia, Kalash and Lode.

Like most soldiers who had been under fire they were good comrades with us. We shared cigarettes for them. They told us of the terrible onslaught of Russian tanks and soldiers which had been able to pierce by the Russian gun.

BATTLE-WORN NAZIS

This picture of army battle-worn German soldiers mingling with us in the above manner is something I shall never forget. They knew they were beaten but were not ashamed of it. They were conditions among the civilian refugees were bad beyond imagination. They crept slowly in endless columns along the highways come to horrendous conditions. In terms, many died. The wailing of infants and screaming children were painful minor notes in the tragic overture.

These were the German people suffering as Hitler made all Europe suffer. As we watched them in the terrible winter settlement the loss of tribute justice seemed not to fit. Perhaps because they were mostly women and children and perhaps because we were suffering too.

We were told by German soldiers that hundreds of small children died from cold.

Everything was hopelessness, misery, hunger and sickness. Only in the scattered, shivering ranks of the prisoners was there a glimmer of cheer. Victory was in the air. The smell of freedom and life was all that a man and woman could give.

STRIKE FOR WOODS

Several of our comrades left the column and struck into the woods, endeavoring to escape German soldiers and reach the Russian lines as fast as possible. Another was C. H. Stinson, a Western Canada newspaperman. I have no further news of him.

The remainder of our journey to the Berlin suburb then of Luckenwalde was made by rail.

United Nations Proposed City Parley Planning To Speed Work

ment originally sponsored by Sen. Arthur W. Vandenberg, of the United States delegation.

The amendment would give the joint-parley lower house of the world organization considerably more scope than contemplated by the original Dumbarton Oaks plan. It would empower the assembly to recommend "peaceful adjustments" of any situation, regardless of origin, which it deems likely to impair the general welfare.

ACTION AWAITED

The Vandenberg amendment still must be acted upon by the full commission and by the full conference in primary session. Approval of the amendment and the various endorse any move to give the assembly more power.

Despite the first signs of progress from conference committees, after more than two weeks, there are still several major issues which require a lot of unspooling. They are:

1. The search for a formula to link such regional arrangements as the Pan American system with the new world organization, it must not destroy the 150-year-old international system and like-wise must not weaken the new world organization at its start.

2. The attempt to reconcile the United Kingdom and American plans on international trusteeship with the American demands for immediate control of former Japanese bases in the Pacific will be compromised.

The so-called fifth attempts of international parties to reach any agreement on major problems involving a new world organization, election of judges, membership, enforcement power, etc.

was. We were picked into empty box cars, loaded in darkness. It was like a mule train, no light, no water, little food, no sanitary arrangements. We were treated with less consideration than we were used to.

The wounded conditions at Luckenwalde were often by continuous Allied air activity. We were told that the British and American planes had been flying over the heads of hundreds of glowering German soldiers, who were being kept in the dark and kept under guard as a whole camp and going into the city.

The British and the islands were liberated without opposition.

Even before the terms were signed, British technicians had been flown over from England for the reestablishment of telephone and telegraph communications, and full communication with London is now restored.

The Channel Islands, four chief of which are Alderney, Guernsey and Sark, were occupied in the summer of 1940 after the island group had been taken by German troops.

The Germans fortified the islands and used them as a base for German motor torpedo boats, but during the invasion campaign and at attacks isolated the islands and the garrison there was completely cut off.

Expected Stand at Berchtesgaden Hitler's Strategy Surprised Kesselring

By HOWARD COWAN

S A L F ELDEN, Austria, May 10.—(AP)—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, the last commander of the German army in the west, is "most surprised" that Hitler did not lead his Nazis into a planned hold-out in the fortified underground tunnels of the Salzburg-Berchtesgaden area.

Kesselring, found by United States troops in a special train in the Tyrolian Alps and awaiting completion of arrangements for his formal surrender, said he is "absolutely certain" Hitler is dead.

It had been known Kesselring was in the area where his predecessor, Field Marshal Adolf Hitler, had been taken into custody. Kesselring said he last saw Hitler about the middle of April in Berlin.

Canada Plans To Loosen Up War Controls

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP)—Relaxation of a number of wartime controls is expected to be announced in the near future, it is expected the immediate effect on supplies available to the public will be great.

One of the factors understood to be in the mind of the government is the need to ease prices, board controls in the danger of a post-war period of inflation. The price ceiling was subject to increasing pressure last year and there are indications that the tendency may be further accentuated now the war in Europe is over.

It is believed the first controls to come off will cover various manufactured goods, including a wide range of metal articles. However, the time lag between the announcement of the controls and the lifting of these in store windows is indefinite, depending largely on the supply of materials and labor. With selective service civilian regulations still operating, available workers will be sent first to war and civilian industries with high priorities.

Swelling of the ankles is not a disease, but is merely a symptom. The swelling is brought about by an accumulation of water in the tissue, and the study of how this extra fluid accumulates is one of the most interesting in the entire field of disease.

The living cells of the body at all times contain a normal quantity of water, and this amount will remain constant within certain variations. The easiest way to consider the approximate content of water in the cell is to say the cell is about 80 per cent water.

When the percentage of water contained in the tissues rises above 80, the tissues are said to have become "edematous" or "swollen." The accurate content of the amount of water in the body is maintained so carefully that the figure quoted will remain constant without any very great variations, for years.

When the cell begins to soak up too much water and to hold it, the cause must be looked for in its cell itself, as some change has taken place which has made it absorb extra water. The change is usually accompanied by defective circulation through the part.

When an abnormal accumulation of fluid within a tissue may follow when the waste materials ordinarily produced are not promptly removed. Such wastes are washed out of the blood and lymphatic circulation. When the circulation is defective because of heart trouble, certain tissues may begin to absorb too much water.

It will be easily understood that the circulation is likely to be poorer in parts farthest removed from the heart, therefore, it is quite common to find the tissues around the ankles are filling with fluid. In the earlier stages of some forms of heart disease, the swelling may appear and disappear, with the ankles slightly swollen on some days, and normal on other days.

Selective Service Controls Will Go

OTTAWA, May 10.—(CP)—Selective Service controls will be removed as soon as possible but at the moment (law) continues strict. Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, said yesterday.

"Selective Service plans for relocation are all set and have been under consideration for some time," Mr. MacNamara said.

"The policy has already been announced by the Hon. Harold Mitchell, minister of labor, in that specific selective service controls will be thrown off as soon as there is no longer need for them."

Mr. MacNamara recalled that an announcement already has been made of the lifting of a freezing order on teachers and relaxation has been made in the issue of labor exit permits required by persons leaving Canada.

Registration cards will continue to be essential documents despite the end of the war in Germany, Mr. MacNamara said.

Britain Protests Russia's Treatment Of Freed Prisoners

LONDON, May 10.—(CP)—State minister Richard K. Law told the House of Commons yesterday that Britain has made representations to Russia over "robbery of personal possessions" of British prisoners of the Red Army. He further protested that British officers were not granted "adequate facilities to visit forward areas and hospitals."

The dispute over prisoners was brought into the open by British protests against the treatment of British prisoners freed by the Red Army. The British government had contended some of these prisoners were in German military uniforms.

National Front Plan Abandoned

MONTREAL, May 10.—(CP)—Hon. P. J. A. Carlin has announced in a signed statement he "will carry out" his plans for the formation of the National Front party. Mr. Carlin, who had outlined his plans in a radio address on April 25 and in his interview "I thought I could bring together through unity and equality the citizens of our province and our country. It was no illusion. I had many other (illusions) during my political life especially during the past three years."

The long-time Liberal who, in 1932, resigned as minister in the government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King following a disagreement of the corruption issue, had said an announcement formation of the National Front party was being decided to limit his activities during the forthcoming election campaign and, therefore, not to run for a place for a general movement," he said.

"I am not going to establish a party," he said. "I am going to establish a movement. I am going to establish a movement which will be a movement of the people. I am going to establish a movement which will be a movement of the people. I am going to establish a movement which will be a movement of the people."

"Would you call him something for me, too, please?"

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Cmndr. Jack Dempsey in his blue Coast Guard uniform sat at a white-clothed table in the bar of the Great Northern hotel and said:

"This fighting in the Pacific is so tough—so rugged—that it almost knocks you out, just looking at it. Just feeling it. It's the toughest fighting there ever was—particularly for American boys who are used to bearable surroundings."

Dempsey said, "I've been in the Pacific for three months. I've seen the world, with most of my time spent in the Pacific, where he saw plenty of action while leading with the fourth during the invasion of Iwo Jima."

CONDITIONS BAD

"The old Hawaii Coast Guard cutter, 'U.S.S. 101' had seen the things I saw. I never would have believed them—that the Japs are crazy—fascists—who don't care what happens to them, just so they kill you. And that living conditions are generally almost unbearable because of the heat, insects, bad water and questionable food. You can hardly sleep because of flying and crawling insects. And if you don't get your 'rice' daily."

But what about boxing in the Pacific, the reporters wanted to know.

"Well—They have some boxing at the replacement centers, like Guam and Manila. Naturally, you can't have any boxing up at the front, where you can't gather a crowd for any reason. You can't have any boxing up at the front, where you can't gather a crowd for any reason. You can't have any boxing up at the front, where you can't gather a crowd for any reason."

"But where the boys are sent back to the replacement centers, they're boxing because generally there's nothing else to entertain them. We need more and more boys in the Pacific replacement centers. Joe Louis and Billy Conn should be sent to help relieve the boys of London. During the interval between fighting, life becomes very tedious."

Giants Turn Back Reds 6-1

In 1st Inter-Sectional Tilt

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Mel Ott's New York Giants passed their first inter-sectional National League test last night with flying colors as Harry Feldman turned back Cincinnati Reds 6-1 for his fourth straight victory before 23,303 fans.

Five singles and an error by Frank McCormick gave the Giants four runs off Arnie Carter in the first frame and here by George Hausman and Ott in the fifth added the other scores.

It was Hausman's first of the season and Ott's first of the season and No. 2 for Ott whose lifetime total of 484 runs equate that of the line Lou Gehrig.

DIMAGGIO HITS HOMER

Big Mel Ott laid out six hits for his first win of the season as Vince DiMaggio hit his third circuit clout. Third baseman John Antonio, making his first appearance as a Phil after being acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals, collected two hits and drove in one run.

BOSTON, May 10.—(AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates, combining 13 hits and nine walks and three errors to defeat Boston Braves 5-3 Wednesday.

In the third inning Pirates drove starter Jim Tobin from the mound with a four-run barrage.

In the eighth, against Lefty Clark Court, the third Boston pitcher to see action, Johnny Barrett homered and Babe Dahlgren drove in two more Pittsburgh runs with a single.

What about boxing in the United States, now that the European victory has been achieved?

Dempsey said every stimulant should be given professional boxing in the United States for two reasons: (1) To provide U.S. entertainment for the boys who return from Europe—on furlough or mustered out, and (2) To develop top boxing talent that can help the boys in the tough Pacific area.

German Surrender Won't Affect Japs

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—(AP)—Japs declared yesterday that Germany's surrender would not bring the "slightest change" to the Japanese war objective, and simultaneously the government was urged to seek Imperial authority to transform the country into "one big war camp."

Sports . . . Roundup

By RUOH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—When the University of Kentucky basketball team beat Kentucky on a last-second basket from midcourt a few years ago, Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler said it was an error of Kentucky, drove a spike into the floor to mark the spot from which the winning shot was fired. . . . Any guess about what he'll have to spike in baseball has the opposition should be snowed under.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Brooklyn's home team against western National League rivals by defeating the world champion St. Louis Cardinals 4 yesterday at Yankee Stadium.

The Braves were held scoreless off the mound, ending one run over the plate on five hits, including a triple by Fred Brown, a double by a triple by Drew Walker, but better, who recovered. . . . Northwest Air Route Described As Aerial Highway to Victory

The great air route from Edmonton to Whitehorse and Alaska and on to Soviet Russia is a more than just a chain of airports. It was an aerial highway of victory in the European war, now a strategically important and vital element in the successful defence of Alaska against Japanese aggression.

These were among salient observations made in a prepared address of Maj. Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., delivered at the closing session of the northern briefting conference in the Memorial Hall Wednesday afternoon.

The address, was read by Wing Cmdr. L. H. Phinney, RCAF, member of Gen. Foster's staff here. The latter is special commissioner for northern defence.

"We look at the Northwest Staging route not just as a chain of airports, but as something that helped break the power of the globe and the Arctic regions and vital to the defence of Alaska against the Japanese," Wing Cmdr. Phinney said at the close of the address.
